Personal profile

I was a student at the actor training academy at Preston's college. This course has helped me to develop teamwork skills as well as independent skills, I can work well with others and am able to take constructive feedback. I can also give my own ideas when necessary. I took part in the trick or treat trail at Ribby hall in which I was in charge of interacting with a lot of children and their families and I had to have a very bright personality. My goal in life is to entertain people.

Education

When I was in highschool, I took part in multiple school productions, these include Bugsy Malone, and Grease. I even got to take part in the royal Shakespeare company's Shakespeare schools festival 3 years in a row where I was in Twelfth night, Midsummers nights dream and Macbeth, respectively.

My GCSEs include a 4 in English and maths, a 4 in science and a 5 in cooking.

Preston's College

I studied level 3 acting at Preston's College. Time on this course has taught me about time management and working as a team. I finished college with a pass.

Work experience

October 2018-

I worked with Ribby hall for their trick or treat trail where I was tasked with interacting with a lot of children and their families as part of the interactive halloween show, for this show I had to remain in character and have an uplifting attitude in order to get everyone involved.

March-June 2020-

I worked at Aldi as a stock assistant in order to help with the coronavirus and lack of staff. I was helping stock shelves and had to quickly adapt to this new environment because I had little to no training. After a few weeks of this, I was officially made store marshall which meant I had to stand at the front door, wiping trolley handles and telling customers when they were allowed to enter the store. Doing this, I had to deal with angry customers and acted very professionally when met with threatening language.

October 2020-November 2022:

I started work at Sainsbury's local, where I have been trained on the till and also trained in cash handling, the think 25 process, and serving/assisting customers.

November 2022- May 2023:

I began work at Buzz Bingo as a presenter. This was a great step in the right direction for me, my biggest goal in life is to entertain people and being a bingo presenter gives me the opportunity to stand in front of an audience and make sure everyone understands the rules of the game as well as upcoming events in a clear and concise manner whilst also creating a fun and friendly atmosphere for everybody involved. My job also involves chatting with the customers and making sure they are comfortable and if they have any questions I can answer it for them. This job also required me to sell a variety of games to the customers, going through different methods and didn't speaking patterns with curtains types of customers in order to sell our product of bingo as much as possible.

I hold myself to a very high standard in my work and I will always try my best especially when learning new things.

May 2023 - November 2023

I began working as an entertainer with Park Holidays UK. This job allowed me to work with families and children in particular creating memorable experiences for them over their holidays. Doing this job helped me to build my repertoire of skills as a performer.
